

ALL THE WORLD LOVES TURKEY; TODAY PROVES IT

OAKLAND IN PRAISE OF GIFT

Prosperity for Which City Is Thankful Voiced Services in All Churches Well Attended; Poor Remembered

OAKLAND gave thanks today for its many blessings received during the year and enjoyed its turkey dinners in a full sense of gratitude.

Men, women and children demonstrated their appreciation by offering prayers in the various Catholic and Protestant houses of worship, which were filled with devout parishioners.

Union Thanksgiving services of the downtown denominational churches were held this morning at 11 o'clock in the First Baptist church, where the leading clergymen of this city took part in the ceremonies, which were impressive.

The music given by the augmented choir of the First Baptist Church added to the solemnity of the devotions. Rev. Thomas A. Boyer, pastor of the First Christian Church of this city, delivered the Thanksgiving sermon. Rev. William Henry Towler, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was the chairman of the day. Those who took part were Rev. L. Carter of the First Congregational Church of Oakland, Rev. William Day Simmonds of the First Unitarian Church, Rev. F. A. Goodspeed of the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Geo. W. White of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, and Rev. James F. Ross of the United Presbyterian Church. Leon Rice, formerly of New York, gave a number of vocal selections.

The ministers of the churches of Fruitvale united in prayer at the School Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Fruitvale this morning, when Rev. E. A. Royce presided over the service.

The spirit of Thanksgiving prevailed at the festive board in the King's Daughters' Home for Invalids, the Ladies' Relief Society, the West Oakland Home, the County Jail and the County Infirmary, where a bountiful repast of turkey and its accessories was served. Many baskets containing wholesome food were distributed this morning at the Salvation Army on Ninth street.

Throughout the day there were many visitors at the County Infirmary, where the stricken ones welcomed the good Samaritans who annually make a pilgrimage to the poor-house.

CURRENCY GEARED HIGH IN SENATE

The Holiday Conference Speeds Along at Rapid Rate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving Day was spent by the Senate Democrats hard at work in conference on the administration currency bill, with geared up legislative machinery moving at a rapid rate. The conference made such progress that the currency leaders declared the bill, with possibly one section excepted, would be ready for consideration by the Senate when the conference finished its evening session.

NO AMENDMENTS PRESENTED. In the absence of Senator Hitchcock, no one presented the amendments he and the five Republicans of the committee had framed, and the conference sped through section after section endorsing the Owen-Glass bill practically without change. Senator McGowan, who aided Senator Owen in presenting the bill to the conference, predicted that with the exception of the section fixing the number of regional reserve banks, the bill would be completed today.

The number of banks has not been decided on and was passed over at the request of Georgia senators, who feared that Atlanta might be handicapped if a regional bank were created in some other Southern city, probably New Orleans.

DARROW TO GIVE THANKS FOR WINNING CHOICE OF WIVES

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Ernest W. Darrow, a contracting mason of Laconia, Conn., celebrated his Thanksgiving day by taking his pick of more than 400 women who had offered to be his life mate. Darrow had been advertising for a wife since last May and the several hundred applicants not only besieged him by letter, by telephone and in person, but many visited him in person.

It was learned today that Miss Julia Stagg, an English girl, who landed in America from England nine months ago and went to live in Brooklyn, had won and the couple will be married this afternoon. According to the terms of his advertisement Darrow, who announced that he made $50 a week and that he had four motherless children, will turn over four fifths of his weekly salary for the support of his wife and children and household expenses.

SUN FOLLOWS IN TRAIL OF STORM

Torrents Fall During Night; Oakland Gets .87 of an Inch

Oakland .87
Red Bluff .50
Sacramento .40
Eureka .38
San Jose .36

Jupiter Pluvius put one over on the weather man last night by making a quicker trip to the bay cities than his schedule called for. In consequence of his speed and departure, Northern California is enjoying ideal weather today. The storm which was forecasted to arrive this morning and dampen the spirit of Thanksgiving, dropped in unexpectedly shortly after 1 o'clock last night and continued intermittently almost until dawn.

It was a real storm and the rain fell in torrents. By sun-up, however, all the clouds had disappeared and those who were counting on a pleasant day in the open air were not disappointed. Sunshine will be the order of things tomorrow unless the unexpected happens.

OAKLAND GETS DRENCHING. In a short time, during which the rain fell in torrents, last night Oakland was drenched with .87 of an inch of water, one of the heaviest storms of the past few seasons. The rainfall brings the total over the average for the past 20 years almost two inches.

That the drought is broken is the declaration of Alameda county farmers. In Livermore it is claimed that Thanksgiving has brought assurance (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Alleged Abduction of Girl to Be Investigated

PORTLAND, Maine, Nov. 27.—The alleged abduction of Miss Lois Piper, a young school teacher of Fairfield, who claims that she was kidnapped and kept prisoner in a room in Boston is to be investigated by United States Attorney Whitehouse, according to an announcement last night. Miss Piper returned home yesterday after a vain search had been made for her for several days. She said a strange woman had given her candy and a note telling her to go to Boston in a dazed condition, she was taken to Boston where she was kept prisoner until her captors became frightened and let her go.

Police Kill Five in East Indian Strike

DURBAN, Natal, Union of South Africa, Nov. 27.—Five East Indians were killed today in an affray between the strikers and the police which occurred on the Blackburn Sugar estate in the Mount Edgmore district, about 14 miles to the north of Durban. The most important sugar crushing mill in Natal is located there and nearby is a large American Mission station.

The police were obliged to fire several volleys before they succeeded in quelling the rioters.

ZELAYA PRISONER ON MURDER CHARGE

CASE UP TO OFFICIALS OF U. S.

State Department to Act; Former President in N. Y. Jail

Accused of Killing Two Countrymen at Mazaya, April 21, 1901

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Jose Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, arrested in bed at midnight on charges of having committed murder was held today without bail for examination on December 1. Pending the arrival of a request for extradition to Nicaragua he was remanded to prison.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The official documents asking for the extradition of former President Zelaya on charges of having murdered two countrymen in Nicaragua had not been received at the State Department today and what was to have been a hearing became merely a conference between Solicitor Folk and Corey M. Stadden, the former dictator's attorney. In the meantime Zelaya was a prisoner in New York, where he was arrested last night.

Zelaya's extradition is asked in connection with the deaths of Domingo Toribio and Sixto Pineda at Mazaya, April 21, 1901. No mention of his summary execution of the Americans, Cannon and Groce, in 1902 is made in the papers, according to advices here.

WOULD NOT BE PROSECUTED. Diplomats point out that under the extradition treaty with Nicaragua, Zelaya could not be prosecuted for the killing of Cannon and Groce unless his extradition is specifically asked for that purpose.

Furthermore, under the treaty, should he be acquitted of the alleged murders, he would have a month in which to leave Nicaragua unmolested, should he serve a sentence he would have a month to do so after his release.

HOW ARREST WAS MADE. NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—After spending the night on the bare boards of a prison cell, Jose Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, was arrested today.

Notwithstanding the holiday, United States Commissioner Shields consented to expedite the case and it was said that Zelaya would be brought before him this afternoon. Zelaya was arrested at midnight in the apartment of Washington Valentine, a friend. He went uncomplainingly to the police station. The United States marshals spent a week on his trail.

Zelaya was arrested in the apartment of Washington S. Valentine, a friend said by Government agents not to be a millionaire interested in Nicaraguan properties. The former president of Nicaragua was taken in custody by George C. Craft, special agent of the Department of Justice.

Craft when asked the charge, said: "He is to be held as an extradition case." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

PROBE JAIL ESCAPES

Sheriff and District Attorney Plan to Act

Barnet Seeks to Place Responsibility for Breaks

Escapes from the Alameda county jail, which have taken place within the last five months and the causes of which have been under a rigid investigation by Sheriff Barnet and District Attorney Hynes for some time past have been completed, and it is probable that the results of their findings will be brought before the grand jury at an early date.

Robert Bradley, murderer, and Robert E. Graham, burglar, escaped from the jail on September 1 by sliding down a rope from the fourth story after they had sawed their way out of their cell and through the iron gratings of the window during weeks of patient work.

James Comerford, pickpocket, who is now serving a 5-year term in San Quentin, escaped on July 20 last by walking out with a number of visitors while Deputy Sheriff Eugene Stachler was on duty alone. Comerford was captured in Vancouver over a month ago and brought back by Sheriff Barnet. His sentence followed.

CAPTURED AND RETURNED. Robert Bradley is now awaiting transportation to San Quentin to serve life imprisonment for the murder of Special Police Officer Williams in East Oakland on April 1912. He was captured and returned to the county jail on October 20, following his hold-up of a saloon in Stockton.

Graham is the only one of the three escapees who is now at liberty. The authorities believe that he has left the country, but are still in hopes of effecting his capture. Sheriff Barnet is still relentlessly upon his trail, and some warm clues are being followed at the present time.

It is in connection with the escape of Bradley and Graham, however, that the grand jury will probably be asked to take cognizance. R. P. Bull, former building inspector in Berkeley, who was a deputy sheriff and turnkey at the county jail prior to the escape of Bradley and who was subsequently discharged by Sheriff Barnet, may be summoned before the inquisitorial body to tell what he knows about the jail break.

THOUGHT HIM GUILTY. "I discharged Bull because I believed he had had something to do with assisting the two prisoners to escape," said Sheriff Barnet today. "I made a complete investigation to be caused of the circumstances and I conscientiously believed that he was innocent. I let him go for no other reason. Now that I am through with that phase of the investigation I shall probably ask that the grand jury take up the evidence and pass upon it."

In connection with the escape of James Comerford, Deputy Sheriff Jack Collier, who handled the investigation, stated today that there was absolutely no suspicion attached to any of the jailers. Deputy Sheriff Stachler, who was on duty at the time, has been entirely vindicated of any complicity in the escape. Sheriff Barnet also absolves Deputy Stachler of any wrong-doing in the matter.

It was an unfortunate occurrence that might happen in any jail, said Sheriff Barnet today. "After my investigation I found that Stachler was entirely innocent."

Two Officers, Passenger, and Sailor Drowned

Storm Swept Vessel, President, Reports Fatalities

News was received here this afternoon that four persons, two officers, one passenger and a sailor, had lost their lives from the steamer President last night in the storm that raged off the California coast.

The passenger, whose name has not been learned, was washed overboard 130 miles north of Cape Blanco, and the members of the crew died in an effort to save him.

OFFICERS TO RESCUE. When the cry of "man overboard" sounded, Fourth Officer J. Shane, T. Jurisbeck and H. Hansen, a seaman, volunteered to attempt his rescue despite the heavy sea. The brief wireless message to the steamship company's office contained no further information.

The President, under Captain Paulsen, left Seattle November 25 for San Francisco with 400 passengers. Her location at the time of the accident last night indicates that she has been delayed somewhat by the unusually heavy weather along the north coast and she is not expected until some time tonight.

BOAT TURNS OVER. PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 27.—Albert Stone was drowned and Johnnie Wolff, owner of the Oregon Wolff IV and his engineer, Ort Mathoit narrowly escaped today when a new speedboat, the Oregon Wolff III, was capsized.

River below this city. The boat, traveling at a terrific speed, rounded a buoy and struck a wave, turned a complete somersault, falling over backward. Stone went down and his body has not been found. Wolff and Mathoit were picked up by a row boat.

Escaped Desperado Roaming at Large

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—James H. Burnes, alias Charles Conley, said to be one of the most desperate men who has ever been held in the Alameda county jail, escaped from his guards last night and is roaming about at liberty. His description was quickly sent broadcast by the authorities who fear that he may commit some crime or harm some innocent person. In a special order today Chief White ordered his officers to keep a sharp lookout and to take no chances with Burnes, who is characterized as a "bad man" who would stop at nothing. Burnes is described as 42 years, 5 feet 8, 170 pounds, gray-blue eyes, dark hair, dark mustache, bald top of head, dark suit.

Transport Prairie Leaves With 800 Men

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—With 800 marines and a full crew on board, the Transport Prairie left the Philadelphia Navy yard at 1 o'clock today for southern waters. The transport carries stores and ammunition for a three months' cruise. Officials said that orders received name Pensacola, Fla., as the objective point of the trip. It has been rumored that the transport will be used after the orders may be changed by wireless telegraph from Washington after the Prairie passes out to sea. The transport was given a noisy send off.

Beachey to Explain Why Officers Died

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 27.—Lincoln Beachey has received a telegram from Secretary Daniels expressing willingness to hear and consider the aviator's views as to the cause of the deaths of Lieutenants Killgrew and Kelly at North Island last Monday.

A telegram from General Leonard Wood said that Secretary Garrison would see Beachey tomorrow.

HARRY W. SEAWELL, WHO WILL BE HEARD TOMORROW ON CHARGE OF GIRL.

CLABBY FAVORED IN 10-4 BETTING

(BY THE TIMEKEEPER.) DAILY CITY (Riverside), Nov. 27.—Jimmy Clabby, of Hammond, Indiana, and "Soldier" Frank Logan, the Manila middleweight, climbed through the ropes here this afternoon for a twenty-round elimination battle. Thanks to a perfect California winter day, the attendance was greater than even Promoter Jimmy Coffroth had anticipated.

Betting at the ringside was 10-4 with little Logan money in sight. The general belief was that Clabby would prove far too clever for the ex-soldier.

Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion, and Harlem Tommy Murphy, who met in a twenty round bout December 10 were introduced to the fans and given a rousing reception. Gunner Smith, who meets Arthur Polley January 1 for the heavyweight championship, was also presented and loudly cheered.

One pneumonitis developed some spirited milling.

MISS ANDERSON TO TESTIFY ON STAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Harry W. Seawell, son of Superior Judge J. M. Seawell of this city, an artist of unusual talent and a member of the Bohemian club, must appear in Police Judge Sherrill's court and face a grave charge preferred by Olga Anderson, a 17-year-old girl. With ambitions to become a model, Miss Anderson answered an ad in a paper and presented herself, according to her story, at Seawell's studio.

She was not received at once, but was told to return. A second time she visited the artistically decorated place at California and Polk streets, and was hired. She declares that she had been led to believe that her head only was to be painted. Contrary to her belief, however, she took the paint that was subjected to numerous indignities and after a horrible experience was taken to dinner by the artist.

These statements will be repeated by Miss Anderson on the witness stand tomorrow. Just what Seawell will say in reply or whether he will take the stand is not known. Thus far neither he nor his attorney, Joseph Dunne, will make any statement.

Large British Warship Slips From the Ways

Fatal Collisions Claim
Human Life in Other Cities

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Crashing into an automobile containing a group of bridesmaids from a fashionable wedding ceremony, a Broadway-street car a merry crowd of society girls late last night. One, Miss Norma Ahlstrand, was killed instantly. Others were seriously injured and two may die as a result of the collision.

The car was coming down Broadway at a fast rate of speed when the automobile, crossing the tracks and filled with social butterflies in decollete attire, passed before it. The motorman a stop, but barely after he had started to apply his brakes the crash came. The rear trucks of the car left the tracks with the impact and the automobile, with its freight of screaming victims, was smashed against an iron pole.

The car, leaving the track, crashed into the wall of an apartment building. While the police were picking up the victims of the accident and hurrying them to the hospital, gasps broken by the impact of the car against the building leaked through gaps to cause an explosion, which was followed by a fire. The fire department was hastily called and succeeded in extinguishing the blaze before serious damage was done.

Miss Ahlstrand, who was killed in the accident, was one of five bridesmaids in a fashionable wedding. The other four are at a local hospital and declared to be in a dangerous condition as a result of the accident.

VICTIMS IDENTIFIED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Identification of the four persons killed in the Peimhan parkway automobile crash early yesterday morning was completed many hours after the accident, with the statement of a young man one of the women victims was his sister, Miss Helen Schaeffer, 20 years old, a manicurist.

The others who were killed were Thomas F. Denney, Democratic member of the assembly from the Nineteenth district of Manhattan; Mrs. Fannie Loos and Leonard Cohen, a dress goods manufacturer, prominent in Tammany circles. They were occupants of Cohen's car, the negro chauffeur of which was slightly injured.

Three or four persons in the other car, owned by Barthold B. Rich, were injured, but none fatally. Rich is a garage owner. Ten years ago he was left $1,000,000 by his father, who was a real estate man. The son has figured in several automobile accidents here in recent years. Last year Rich's wife divorced him. She set forth before a referee that Rich had been spending $50,000 a year on Broadway.

THREE ARE KILLED.
HALLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—Mrs. Mary E. Gore, her daughter Annie, and Miss Frances Seiser were killed near here yesterday when a freight on the Pennsylvania railroad struck an automobile in which they were riding. Walter Axinger of Altoona and his wife were dangerously injured. The train was heading backward when Axinger attempted to drive the automobile across the tracks.

ZELAYA WILL BE HELD ON CHARGE

Government Secret Service
Men Arrest Former President of Nicaragua.

prisoner of the Government on the charge of murder committed in Nicaragua.

Zelaya was taken to a police station near the federal building. With him was Louis E. Gore, his counsel who was Nicaraguan minister to the United States under the Zelaya administration. The prisoner took his detention calmly, the few words he spoke as his name was being entered on the arrest blotter, being in Spanish and addressed to his counsel. He declined to make any statement for publication. When he was searched nothing was taken from him but a stickpin.

According to the Government agents, Zelaya on last Saturday night fled from the Broadway Hotel where he was stopping, but was traced to an apartment hotel in West Seventy-second street, to be far from Central Park. On Tuesday he again disappeared and the agents took up a plan of keeping Zelaya's friends under surveillance. This worked as well.

The Government officials say that after several had come to the apartments on West End avenue where Zelaya was found tonight, the agents paid Valente a visit.

The Government officials told Valente that they knew Zelaya was in his apartment and demanded to see him. Valente thereupon led the officers into a dark room in which Zelaya was sleeping. The officers led the arrest of Zelaya. Valente translated it to his guest and a few minutes later Zelaya left the apartment for the police station in custody of the officers.

The clerk at a hotel where Zelaya stopped noticed that he had received an envelope containing a large sum of money. This envelope was found on Zelaya tonight at the time of his arrest but he gave it into the custody of the officers before accompanying them to the police station.

Loyalty Typified in Dance

Association.

Six hundred guests attended the third annual ball given last evening in the ivory ballroom of Hotel Oakland by the Kahn Bros. Employees' Mutual Benefit Association. The affair was an exemplification of the loyalty of the employees toward their employers and proved to be one of the most enjoyable and successful dances of the year. The heads of the departments of Kahn Bros., the directors and managers of that store, as well as all the clerks exchanged greetings at the introductory march, which was one of the features of the ball.

Gracefully the young women marched around the brilliantly illuminated hall and introduced themselves. The new method of introduction proved a novelty. The splendid array of handsome gowns worn by the attractive young women made an effective picture in the procession. For the first time in the history of the association the introductory march was presented and without a hitch the women assumed their places in the line. The variegated colored frocks created an original scene. There were many spectators in evening dress who were fascinated by the attractive dancers. Many friends of the employees joined in the collision, which

Shoots and Kills Husband in Struggle

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 27.—W. A. Loveland, 48 years old, an engraver, was shot and instantly killed last night by a gun held in the hand of his wife, Josephine, as she faced him in the main room of their home on Portland Heights. Mrs. Loveland was found hysterical after the shooting by Miss Francesca Grothman, a neighbor. At the police station she said her husband was jealous without cause and had threatened her life. She said he abused her this evening and demanded that she produce a revolver, which he knew she had. In an ensuing struggle over the weapon, she said, it was discharged, and the bullet penetrated his brain.

PAROLE DECISION MAY HAVE WIDESPREAD EFFECT

Superior Judge Edgar T. Zook of Marin county rendered a decision yesterday, which will probably be widespread in its effect upon the status of the cases of many convicts who are now serving terms in San Quentin and Folsom for violation of their paroles by entering saloons.

The case was that of Horace J. Dobbin, a murderer who was paroled in 1904 after his sentence had been commuted to 20 years imprisonment, by then acting Governor Warren E. Hearnes. Dobbin was arrested by the State Prison Board. About a year after his release Dobbin was arrested in Oakland for entering a saloon and returned to prison to serve the remainder of his term with his credits taken away. He had nearly 8 years in credits.

A writ of habeas corpus was granted by Judge Zook and Dobbin is at his home in Berkeley today enjoying Thanksgiving turkey. The court held that it had not been shown that Dobbin entered the saloon to use liquor but had gone in on business.

HORSWILL ACQUITTED BY JURY; ACTION QUICK

Without leaving the box, a jury which heard the evidence in the case of the people against Milton Horswill, who was charged with larceny upon the complaint of W. T. Harris of Lake county, returned a verdict of acquittal last evening in Superior Judge Donahue's court. Harris, the complaining witness, alleged that Horswill had disposed of two horses on which he held a mortgage.

The Pacific Freight & Transportation Company, which Horswill purchased for $10,000. According to Deputy District Attorney Burpee, who prosecuted the case, it was one that should not have been brought to trial.

WEIRD STORY IS TOLD TO POLICE

Packing Needle May Prove Poisoned; Mystery Shrouds Discovery.

Detectives Investigate Tale That Recalls Conan Doyle's Novels.

Ghostly visitations, the slamming of doors, rattling of partitions and rappings within wall partitions and the strange presence of a man who disappeared from a room as mysteriously as he entered, were reported to the police last night by William H. Kelley, 825 Allen street. The police due to the claims is a packing needle rust with age, which has mysteriously materialized from nowhere on the drawing-room table Tuesday night while Kelley smoked his evening cigar and nodded over the paper.

Nobody had ever seen the big packing needle before. Nobody in the Kelly family had ever seen one just like it. Was it a warning? Or an omen? Did it portend ill or good fortune? Kelley was puzzled, and

There is a window near the table on which the long needle was found. Kelley went to bed leaving his chair on the table, the end still glowing in the darkened room. Had someone thrown the big needle through the window, thinking Kelley was still there, in the hope of warning him? It is possible the point may have been poisoned. Kelley may be tested for poison. Kelley told the police that for three years strange things have happened in his home, but that the materialization of the needle was the most strange. If the police are unable to solve the dilemma in which the Kelley finds itself several spiritualists, a mahatma and two aeromancers will be requested to investigate the matter.

and Senator Newlands, while attending the conference, has an original plan which he intends to press on the floor of the Senate.

The defection of three Democrats might imperil the majority in the Senate if the Republican lines hold.

HITCHCOCK SURPRISED.

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 27.—United States Senator G. M. Hitchcock, who, with Mrs. Hitchcock, arrived at their home from Washington today, said to the Associated Press, in reference to yesterday's action of the Democratic senators on the senate bill:

"The calling of the Democratic conference was a surprise to me. I heard nothing of it until I was starting to take the train Tuesday afternoon. Senator Owen's speech on Monday indicated a conciliatory disposition. This led me in my speech on Tuesday to adopt a similar plan and to confine my arguments to the merits of the bill agreed upon by my section of the committee and reported by me. I was honored by a large attendance."

The close attention given to my speech and the comments made afterward led me to hope that some of the changes in the bill which I supported would be favorably considered.

"A general spirit of good feeling prevailed on both sides of the Senate chamber and the prospect for an amicable adjustment of the bill and early action seemed bright. To some extent this has been marred by the excessive zeal of the conference."

DRASTIC ACTION UNWISE.

"Its drastic action in ordering recesses day and night, including the holidays, appears to me unwise. This method may push the bill through by main strength and may reduce the time of debate 10 days or two weeks, but it will arouse party animosities which will detract from the merits of the discussion."

"Another possible result is that the Republicans may now resort to a filibuster out of the chamber and if this should occur the passage of the bill might be delayed instead of expedited."

"I will return to Washington within a week."

SOON TO BREAK GROUND FOR PLYMOUTH CHURCH

Immediately after the services next Sunday morning in the Plymouth Congregational Church, ground will be broken for the new house of worship. The church is located upon the site of the old church at Moss avenue and Howe street. The ten days campaign for the building fund closed last evening and the official returns were announced last evening at Thanksgiving services held in the church. The reports were given by the ten captains, who will each receive a shovel full of earth at the ceremonies.

Up-to-date, the sum of $45,056 has been subscribed, and according to a statement made by Rev. A. W. Palmer, pastor of the church, the necessary amount will be pledged before the lapse of many months. The campaign called for $50,000. The team commanded by Edgar L. Ormsby received the largest number of subscriptions.

of a good year, for the rain was opportune. The rainfall also, say water experts, assures the bay cities that there will be no water famine, as feared, this year, and Washington township reports show that dry wells will give water for the first time in almost two years.

The rain came suddenly, and the clouds cleared away with equal speed. By 5 o'clock this morning not a cloud was in the sky. A little later a few were seen, but these, too, were swept away on the fast but light wind which had arisen.

The Chabot rain gauge shows the rainfall to be one of the heaviest short storms in two years, for the precipitation in all lasted about three hours.

VESSLS ARE LATE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—To fill the measure of Thanksgiving plenty, it rained generously last night in central and northern California and cleared bright and fair today, with a soft northwest breeze.

Incoming vessels from Puget Sound and northern ports were from 30 to 40 hours late and reported very heavy weather last night and yesterday. The steam schooner Wasp, from Puget Sound for San Pedro with lumber, ran out of fuel oil and was obliged to fire her boilers with 13,000 feet of her cargo. She filled her tanks today and continued southward.

The snorting southwester that scoured the coast yesterday had blown itself out over night and the sea was falling rapidly today. The harbor bar was smooth and there was no longer any danger for traffic inbound or outbound.

WAVES DAMAGE RAILWAY.

EUREKA, Nov. 27.—Waves at high tide carried away 700 feet of railway track along the beach and on the approach to the jetty being constructed.

BENEFIT WHIST PROVES SUCCESS

Goodly Sum. Realized for St. Joseph's Deaf and Dumb Home.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the large whist party for the benefit of the deaf and dumb home, held at the Hotel Oakland last evening, was a social as well as a financial success. Over 1000 tickets were sold and the merchants and charitable people of the city donated thousands of useful articles as prizes.

Miss Irene Smith of Alameda rendered a vocal solo in the course of the evening, which added very materially to the entertainment provided for the guests.

The deaf and dumb home is conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph at Fortieth street and Telegraph avenue, maintained entirely through charitable channels, and it seemed that answers came to the call of the committee last night from every quarter of the city, irrespective of creed or race. The goodly sum realized will be used to care for the unfortunate dependents, and also aid in the street work and other improvements that are contemplated by the gentle Sisters.

The Rev. Father Maher acted as chairman of the committee of arrangements, and Miss M. Blanche Steele was his able secretary. James Garland was chairman of the evening and had for his assistants, Superior John F. Mullins, Arthur E. Row, James Gallagher, William J. Hennessy and Captain Frank Lynch. A body of pretty girls acted as official scorers.

BROTHER AND SISTER AS BRIDE AND GROOM

Brother and sister figured as bride and bridegroom in a double wedding ceremony performed by Justice Quinn yesterday afternoon, in his chambers at Eighth street and Broadway. Leo McConnell and his sister, Gertrude Bernice McConnell, appeared at the county clerk's office with George Henry Ruef and Miss Grace Dolan. All are residents of San Francisco. Miss McConnell married Ruef and Miss Dolan married Leo McConnell. After the ceremony the two young couples started on a honeymoon trip to the southern part of the state.

of a good year, for the rain was opportune. The rainfall also, say water experts, assures the bay cities that there will be no water famine, as feared, this year, and Washington township reports show that dry wells will give water for the first time in almost two years.

The rain came suddenly, and the clouds cleared away with equal speed. By 5 o'clock this morning not a cloud was in the sky. A little later a few were seen, but these, too, were swept away on the fast but light wind which had arisen.

The Chabot rain gauge shows the rainfall to be one of the heaviest short storms in two years, for the precipitation in all lasted about three hours.

VESSLS ARE LATE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—To fill the measure of Thanksgiving plenty, it rained generously last night in central and northern California and cleared bright and fair today, with a soft northwest breeze.

Incoming vessels from Puget Sound and northern ports were from 30 to 40 hours late and reported very heavy weather last night and yesterday. The steam schooner Wasp, from Puget Sound for San Pedro with lumber, ran out of fuel oil and was obliged to fire her boilers with 13,000 feet of her cargo. She filled her tanks today and continued southward.

The snorting southwester that scoured the coast yesterday had blown itself out over night and the sea was falling rapidly today. The harbor bar was smooth and there was no longer any danger for traffic inbound or outbound.

WAVES DAMAGE RAILWAY.

EUREKA, Nov. 27.—Waves at high tide carried away 700 feet of railway track along the beach and on the approach to the jetty being constructed.

BENEFIT WHIST PROVES SUCCESS

Goodly Sum. Realized for St. Joseph's Deaf and Dumb Home.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the large whist party for the benefit of the deaf and dumb home, held at the Hotel Oakland last evening, was a social as well as a financial success. Over 1000 tickets were sold and the merchants and charitable people of the city donated thousands of useful articles as prizes.

Miss Irene Smith of Alameda rendered a vocal solo in the course of the evening, which added very materially to the entertainment provided for the guests.

The deaf and dumb home is conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph at Fortieth street and Telegraph avenue, maintained entirely through charitable channels, and it seemed that answers came to the call of the committee last night from every quarter of the city, irrespective of creed or race. The goodly sum realized will be used to care for the unfortunate dependents, and also aid in the street work and other improvements that are contemplated by the gentle Sisters.

The Rev. Father Maher acted as chairman of the committee of arrangements, and Miss M. Blanche Steele was his able secretary. James Garland was chairman of the evening and had for his assistants, Superior John F. Mullins, Arthur E. Row, James Gallagher, William J. Hennessy and Captain Frank Lynch. A body of pretty girls acted as official scorers.

BROTHER AND SISTER AS BRIDE AND GROOM

Brother and sister figured as bride and bridegroom in a double wedding ceremony performed by Justice Quinn yesterday afternoon, in his chambers at Eighth street and Broadway. Leo McConnell and his sister, Gertrude Bernice McConnell, appeared at the county clerk's office with George Henry Ruef and Miss Grace Dolan. All are residents of San Francisco. Miss McConnell married Ruef and Miss Dolan married Leo McConnell. After the ceremony the two young couples started on a honeymoon trip to the southern part of the state.

CAN HAVE FORTUNE IF TAKES WIFE

Floyd Scott Has Chance to Make Good in Three Years.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 27.—If Floyd L. Scott of Battle Creek will get married within the next three years he can have as his reward a check for $10,000, or the cash if he prefers it, from a wealthy Eastern relative.

The news was broken to him in a letter on his twenty-fifth birthday, with an additional encouragement of a check for $500.

Scott is a rug maker employed by a Michigan rug company. He is a shy sort of man and with no bad habits. Incidentally he is an own nephew of the late General George B. McClellan, commander-in-chief of the army of the Potomac, his mother having been Mary McClellan.

"As far as the girl is concerned," said Scott, "it would be 'soft picking.' But I have my ideal and I am in hopes that within the three years allowed me for a choice I will find this ideal in real life. I know lots of nice girls now, but so far not one has a better chance than the

Hoodoo Numbers Bate No. 13 for Fred E. Reed

"Thirteen" and "Twenty-three" are two hoodoo numbers which one Oakland man has braved successfully. Fred E. Reed, well-known booster, and father of the county publicity bill which was recently passed in the state legislature, declares that his life has been devoted principally to events in which the fateful figures numbered and to him they seem to have been a talisman.

Reed earned his first money at the age of 13. He was employed at $12 per month, to sweep the office of Fred Post, now a County Supervisor, at 1315 Shattuck avenue. His name, Fred Elroy Reed, contains thirteen letters. His office number in the syndicate building is 706—total thirteen—his telephone number ditto. His first big real deal netted him $1300 and was made on Friday, the 13th. He was married at the age of 23. He was born on Friday the 13th.

"I never was superstitious," declared Reed, "but I have a weak point, thirteen, for they have always brought me luck."

KANSAS PRODUCTS REACH

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 27.—Notwithstanding the driest year and practically the smallest crop of corn on record for the state, the products of Kansas, including wheat, sorghum and feed lots amounted to nearly $242,000,000 this year, a larger sum than was reached in any year prior to 1906. It was $82,000,000 less than the value of the output of last year, when the high season was reached. These are the figures presented by the Board of Agriculture, in its reports on the year's crops completed last night.

The total value of the crops of Kansas, less than 15,000,000 bushels, is the smallest since 1874.

Plan Repetition Concert Success

MISS MARY AMES.

Plymouth Center was such a success that the choir has yielded to the repeated requests of the scores who were unable to gain admittance, and will give a second production Wednesday evening, December 3, at 8 o'clock.

The second performance will be an exact repetition of the first concert, the lady members of the choir appearing in the hoop skirt fashion costume of our grandmothers, the men in the regulation high socks and "swallow-tails" of that period. Archie Thomas will render "Old Black Joe" in his rich tenor voice. Miss Mary Ames as "Peggy" will sing her "Low-backed Chair," in which number she scored a hit at the recent concert.

Alexander Stewart, the director, and William Carruth, the organist, will be assisted by Miss Sophie Neustadt and Miss Goldie Hulin.

The proceeds of this second concert will be devoted to the cause for which the first was produced—that of swelling the fund for the new church edifice contemplated.

HAYWARD SCHOLARS GIVE CREDITABLE EXERCISES

HAYWARD, Nov. 27.—The Thanksgiving celebration commenced here yesterday afternoon when the school children commemorated the day and of Junipero Serra were held by the pupils of the high school. The exercises were witnessed by a large number of Hayward people and were conducted under the supervision of principal F. P. Johnson. The exercises were one of the main attractions of Thanksgiving eve.

The Methodist, Congregational, Episcopal and Baptist churches united in a Thanksgiving service this morning in the Congregational church. Rev. Hamilton Lee, of the Episcopal church, preached the sermon, and Thanksgiving was rendered by the choir and soloists and guests by Mrs. Merwin and Miss Obermuller.

Oakland board cars were crowded this morning with pleasure seekers while attractions across the bay claimed many. Thanksgiving parties were given by a number of homes and Thanksgiving dinners were served at the hotels in town. Plenty of amusement was afforded the stay at homes, the local theatres playing before large houses.

ELMHURST CHURCHES' THANKSGIVING SERVICES

ELMHURST, Nov. 27.—A union Thanksgiving service was held this morning in Elmhurst Baptist church, and was attended by the congregations of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches. Short sermons were delivered by Dr. Woodworth, Rev. J. P. Gernier of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. T. W. Harris of the Baptist church. A special service of music was given by the choir. The service was celebrated by the church. Thanksgiving this morning by a special service after mass. Special music was rendered by the choir and the services which were conducted by Rev. J. Kieley were attended by a large number of the congregation.

All Saints' Episcopal church of Elmhurst held a Thanksgiving service this morning, the sermon being preached by Rev. E. J. Hoering of All Saints mission.

MAY AGAIN ATTEMPT TO OUST REV. GOODSPEED

Another attempt by the officers of the First Presbyterian church, who have twice been defeated, because of the sentiment of the congregation in favor of the pastor, to oust Rev. F. L. Goodspeed from that position, will be made, before the Oakland Presbytery in January, according to rumors heard in the congregation. The resignation of George D. Gray, the oldest trustee of the church, who has for many years acted in that capacity, started the rumor, and it is declared that the Presbytery will be asked to reconsider its refusal to accept Goodspeed's resignation.

Gray resigned this week, and Dr. Ray Gison was named to take his place. It is not believed that the Presbytery will attempt to oust Goodspeed, for the affairs of the church, seem in good condition. The case, however, will come before the body through the decision at its last meeting that a report on church affairs should be made at that time.

GROSVENOR RESIGNS AS SPECIAL PROSECUTOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Edward P. Grosvenor, special assistant to Attorney-General McReynolds, in charge of the prosecution of the path tith, harvester, moving picture and other so-called trusts, tendered his resignation yesterday to take effect January 1. Grosvenor will remain in the office in New York, and will become a partner of former Attorney-General Wickesham and Henry C. Smith.

He will continue his government connection until the harvester and moving picture suits are completed.

They exert so direct an action on the kidneys and bladder that the pain and torment of backache, rheumatism and kidney trouble is soon dispelled. They are worthy a trial, as a trial is the only sure test. They contain no habit-forming drugs.

The chestnut mare, Roseale, a daughter of Bonaville, out of Princess, also went to Germany, Charles Mills paying $1200 for her.

American bidders came to the front and took Solola. This mare was bid in by Curtis Rock Farm at Colman, Ga. ALLEGES WAS BUNKOED IN SALOON

Young John A. Paddock
Claims Gamblers Robbed
Him.

Chief Peterson Orders Investigation and May Ask Dismissal of Lad.

Revelations made by John A. Paddock, son of a wealthy lumber man of Arizona, as to alleged gambling at Alcatraz and Telegraph avenues, are to be investigated by Chief of Police Walter J. Peterson and may lead to license being revoked.

Paddock was arrested at his home in Fresno on a charge of issuing fictitious checks, and on being brought to Oakland he told of being swindled by a number of gamblers in the saloon and in a lodging house in Oakland, and of being forced to sign checks aggregating $300 to meet debts alleged to have been contracted while gambling at Alcatraz.

Young Paddock declares that about 1922 he went with some college students from Berkeley to Donovan's saloon, where they played cards. He states that they were joined by W. H. Swank, who lives at the Madonna hotel, 477 Eighth street, and who is at present in San Francisco.

Swank is the complaining witness against Paddock in the felony charge. Paddock says that he lost money to Swank, and that Swank accepted a check for $5 on the First National bank of Berkeley, in which Paddock had an account. His balance at that time amounted to only $2.55.

Paddock states that Swank and another man induced him to go to a rooming house in Oakland, and that after playing him with whiskey they played cards and swindled him.

Chief of Police Peterson stated today that if he finds that Paddock's story is true he will ask for a dismissal of the case against him. Peterson has ordered an investigation of the case.

HOLIDAY FEAST LOOT OF THIEVES

Thanksgiving Turkey Stolen
From Restaurant; Also Other Eatables.

G. G. Griffin, proprietor of an eating house at 414 Ninth street, is the unwitting and unwilling host today at a Thanksgiving feast. He has asked the police to find the thief or thieves who clamored through the transom over the front door of his place of business last night and stole three turkeys, dressed, stuffed and ready for the oven.

Griffin had the birds prepared for his patrons' Thanksgiving dinners today. They had been put in the icebox for the night. The thieves helped themselves to large portions of cranberry sauce, celery, pumpkin pie and other Thanksgiving dinner accessories, hoisting the feast over the transom and leaving the place as they came.

Ed Coleman and a partner were not so lucky in their attempt to get cocoa for their Thanksgiving dinner. Railroad Officer J. A. Butler saw Coleman and another man at Twenty-fourth street and the Southern Pacific tracks early this morning. Each had a sack over his back. Butler placed Coleman under arrest, but his companion ran. Butler fired at him but he escaped in the darkness, after dropping his plunder. Coleman's sack contained 15 tins of cocoa, and the other bag was filled with 20 tins.

The two had broken into a freight car. Coleman is in the city prison, and the police are seeking his partner in crime.

CHARGES TRICKERY IN HUSBAND'S DIVORCE SUIT

That her husband had resorted to unusual methods in his efforts to obtain a divorce from her is the charge made against J. P. Dunsbury, wealthy official of the Standard Portland Cement Company, by his wife, who has obtained a charge of venue of the case from Oakland to San Francisco. Her attorney stated that his client was sent on a trip East by her husband on July 5, 1912. While she was away he took advantage of the circumstances, it is alleged, to file a divorce complaint charging desertion. That she was forced to obtain money from her friends in order to return here to fight the suit is a further charge in the proceedings.

DR. S. SAT TONG

ON HIM FROWNED DR. W. M. F. SNOW LAYS DOWN OFFICE

Secretary of Health Board
Quits Because of Control
Body's interference.

Strife Over Expenditures May Lead to Same Action by Entire Board.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 27.—Continuous strife for more than a year between the California State Board of Health and the Board of Control over the former body's expenditure of funds appropriated for its disposal by the legislature, culminated yesterday in the announcement by Dr. W. M. F. Snow, secretary of the board, and it is said the probable resignation in a body next week of the entire health board membership.

What is described by Dr. Snow and the health board as the "unwarranted interference and tactless methods of the control board" is declared, "has checked the progress of the former organization and impaired its efficiency."

WILL QUIT FRIDAY.

Dr. Snow would quit his office next Friday. His resignation was presented to the health board November 4, but was not acted upon because of negotiations between the board and Governor Johnson, through which it was thought the controversy might be adjusted.

The failure of Governor Johnson to consider the existing differences between the two state boards as more than "petty" and the executive's delay in taking any action in the matter, Dr. Snow said, left him nothing to do but resign.

At the executive office yesterday there was no comment over the trouble. The correspondence between the health and control boards to Governor Johnson was withheld from the announcement that the Governor considered it merely a controversy between two state departments.

ATTITUDE HARASSING.

Dr. James A. Parkinson of Sacramento, vice-president of the state health board, said the control board's attitude was "harassing in the extreme."

In a letter to the Governor Dr. Snow says: "Some time ago I discussed with you the desirability of my resignation of the secretaryship of the health board in consequence of certain policies, which policies, if persisted in, would most seriously impair its efficiency and future progress."

"You then expressed your belief that this condition of affairs could be adjusted and stated you would look into the matter. This adjustment has not been made and other circumstances have since arisen which, I believe, warrant me in presenting my resignation as secretary."

RENDERED INEFFICIENT.

In his resignation to the health board Dr. Snow says in part:

"The steady progress of the state board of health during the last 10 years has placed it in an enviable position among similar boards in the United States. This progress cannot occur under a policy of interference, constraint and prohibition."

The health board insists that if the control board is to dominate the expenditure of its money the entire system of organization and projected health conservation is rendered inefficient.

PRESIDENT NEYLAN'S VIEWS.

President Neylan of the board of control said last night:

"The board of control is charged under the law with responsibility for the proper expenditure of all appropriations. It seems elementary that the entire health system, including expenditures on the part of the board of health."

"The board of control has been patient in its attempts to teach Dr. Snow that public moneys should be conserved as faithfully as private trust funds. The fact has been that one and has been constantly complicated by the doctor's attitude."

PROGRESSIVES TO OUTLINE FIGHT

December 6 will mark the official start of the political campaign of the California Progressives, when at a conference to be held at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, members of the party from all parts of the state will gather to outline their fight for power. The session will be called at 3 p. m. according to the announcements received in local Progressive camps today.

Since it is announced they will be taken to abandon officially all affiliations with the Republican party, and a state central committee will be chosen to direct the organization of the party. The California Progressives have been invited to attend the session.

Governor Johnson, who will be one of the speakers at the gathering, has made clear as his position on the view that the two parties cannot merge.

"We have decided to go forward," he said, "as a separate and distinct entity known as the Progressive party of California, and any amalgamation, consolidation or reorganization with the Republican party would mean a surrender of the political liberty that we have so dearly bought."

Several speakers besides the governor including J. M. Eshelman, railroad commissioner, J. J. Dwyer, and Senator Lee C. Gates, will be heard.

PULLMAN PORTERS ARE TIRED OF "CAMP STOOLS"

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Pullman car porters are tired of "hiding camp stools," they say, in a card to the American people, announcing the organization of the Federation of Pullman Porters of America, with headquarters at the Manhattan building, this city. They seek emancipation from their present condition.

"A Pullman porter," they say in their bill of grievances, "receives but $27.50 a month as a salary. If he gets any more it is on account of the passengers' liberality, which brings up the question: Why Should the Passenger Be Liberally?"

"Not only does the porter receive a small salary but he is charged with all open shortages which often amount to $100 or more."

There are about 10,000 Pullman porters in service who make a very meagre sum at the end of the year.

Kangaroo Walk Returning But the Hobbie Isn't to Go

Here's the
New Bustle
Gown, Which Goes Our Grandmothers
One Better.
Will You
Wear It?

Will the hipless hobbie, beloved of femininity and lauded by all save A. Comstock, require, give place to the bustling bustle of our grandmother's days? "Never!" says the girls. "What, never?" asks fashion, and the answer is: "Well—hardly ever."

The old Gibson and Sullivan catch line still holds good, and in the meantime the makers of fashion have turned makers of bustles.

The new bustle means the return of the "Kangaroo Walk" and all the other bustling movements which have meanings of their own—said meanings being expressed in the hobbie of the back. And a kangaroo walk in a hobbie skirt? Girls, it's awful to contemplate.

The hobbie isn't to go. My lady must bend like the kangaroo, but she must hobbie too, the tout ensemble forming a hop very like that of the beast whom Kipling declared hopped to escape from the Dingo, until he achieved the shape that he boasts today.

The new Kipling is an authority on kangaroos, and also on women—that's admitted! Awful thought! Will the female of the species grow shapely as the kangaroo? Kipling, please answer!

The new bustle of wire frame, and they say, in Paris, that it's very alluring. It's lighter than that our grandmothers wore—but the effect's the same. Watch! They say it's coming this season.

YOSEMITE WIN IN HARD CONTEST

Players Battle On Slippery Football Field; Score
9-7.

With a well-directed kick from the 25-yard line, Captain Bob Gill of the Yosemite scored the winning points for his team in a hard fought game of American football played with the formidable Originals at the Grove street grounds today. The three points brought the score to 9-7 in favor of the Yosemite as against 7 made by their opponents in the first quarter of the contest.

The game was played before a fairly sized crowd of spectators and on a field still slippery from the night's rain. At the outset it appeared that the Yosemite who had substituted for the Brookline at the eleventh hour when the old rivals of the Originals were unable to appear, would make a sweeping victory. The ball had a diversified career for the first 10 minutes the Yosemite made a series of forward passes the Originals carried it to the Yosemite's 10-yard line. With the ball in the hands of the opponents they kicked in a field goal to get it beyond the danger line when it was blocked by the Originals, bounding back across the goal line. Stewart broke through the defense and dropped on the ball for HONORS ARE EVEN.

In the second quarter neither side succeeded in putting the pigskin across the border line and it drifted back and forth from one end of the field to the other. The Originals endeavored to follow up their advantage and the other team striving to tie the score.

During the first part of the third quarter Hoffman, quarterback for the Yosemite, made one of the most sensational runs of the game, picking up the ball on his own 10-yard line and carrying it to the middle of the field before he was stopped, making a gain of 30 yards. The ball had been fumbled while being run into play, and Hoffman, seizing the opportunity, rushed the ball to the 50-yard line through early interference for a clear field.

It was in the last quarter that the Originals, seeming to tire, allowed the Yosemite, by a series of forward passes to get the ball into their territory where, from the 10-yard line McInters receiving it on a forward pass across the goal for a touchdown, scoring 6 points. He tried for a goal on kick, but missed.

Then with the score standing 7 to 6 against them the Yosemite rallied for a final effort, gathering the ball in from the place-out and returning it into their opponents' territory. From a likely position a little to the side of the goal posts, Captain Gill decided to try for a field goal. He received the ball from McInters and placed it directly between the posts with plenty of space beneath. The score then stood 9 to 7 in favor of his team.

ORIGINALS IN RALLY.

With but 4 minutes to play the Originals endeavored to tie up the lost ground and had the ball well into the territory of the Yosemite when time was called.

Peter Smith acted as referee and Tom McKenna as umpire. The lineup of the teams was as follows:

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY GAS, BUT WILL RECOVER

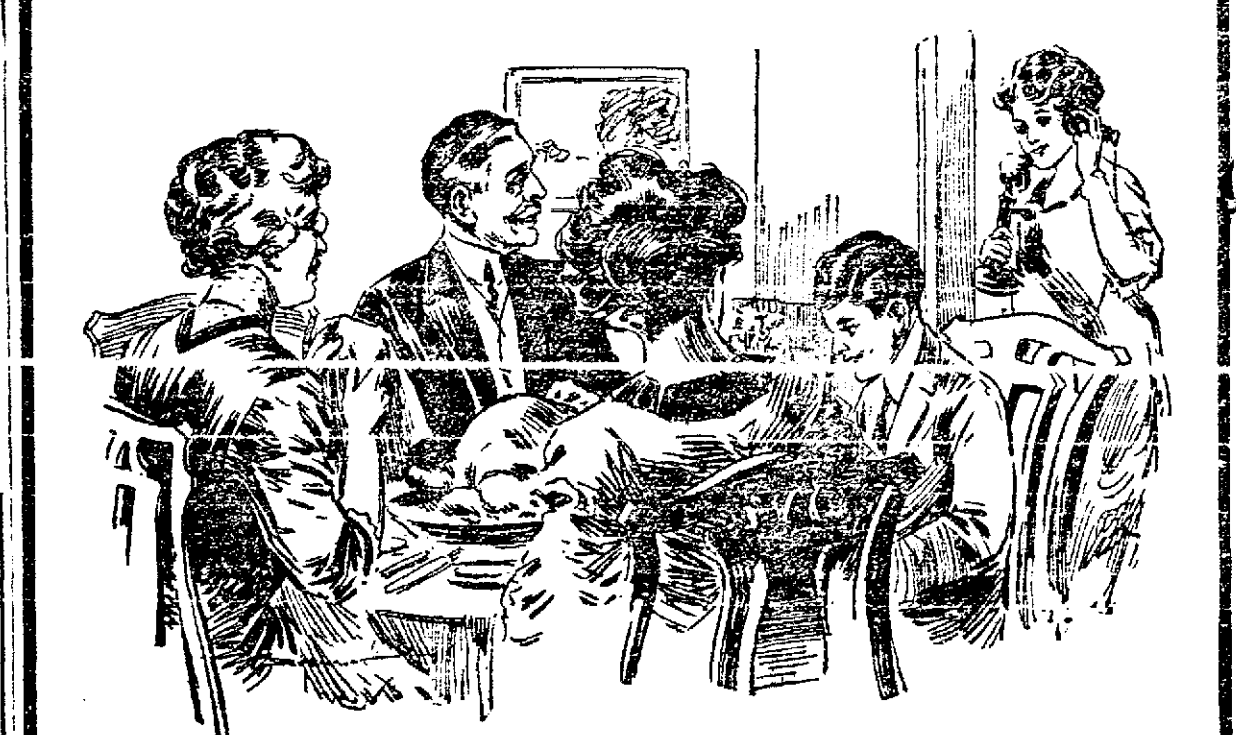

After stepping up all cracks and crevices at the Vendome hotel, Ninth and Washington streets, Ben Osburn, an ironworker, attempted suicide this morning by turning on the gas jet. The odor was detected by J. H. Whit, day clerk, who took to the alarm and found the man unconscious. He summoned the police and Osburn was taken to the Emergency hospital, where it was stated later that he would recover. Osburn has been at the hotel for about three months, off and on, and returned to the hotel several days ago from the mountains. According to the hotel people, he has a wife who is working in Richmond. He left no note and the cause of the rash act was not determined.

Two Surveys of Rate Regulation.

At the recent meeting of the State Bar Association in San Diego control and regulation of railroads by government agencies was ably and intelligently discussed by John M. Eshelman, president of the California Railroad Commission, and William F. Herrin, chief counsel of the Southern Pacific Company. An erroneous impression of the discussion was conveyed by the newspaper reports of the meeting. There was no clash of opinions; Mr. Eshelman did not reply to Mr. Herrin, and there was no radical difference expressed by the head of the Railroad Commission and the Southern Pacific's chief attorney. Both men had prepared their addresses before they came to the meeting, and each read his paper without reference to what the other had to say. The viewpoints were different, but the attitude of the two men was not hostile. Each presented a view of the same question from a different angle, but the points raised by both must be considered together in adjusting the relations of the public and the transportation companies on an equitable basis.

Mr. Eshelman, who has impressed himself upon the public mind as a sincere, upright man striving intelligently to do justice, stated its object in a single comprehensive sentence. He spoke some hours before Mr. Herrin did, and the propositions he laid down were not disputed, and cannot be safely disputed. He said that valuation was really the only issue dividing the Commission from the railroad managers. The basis of valuation is yet to be authoritatively determined, but he wisely rejected two proposed plans, one as being unjust to the people and inapplicable and the other as being to the railroads. The cost of reproduction of the railroads was not accepted because it did not take into account the conditions under which the railroads were originally constructed and financed and brought to their present state of efficiency. The gross capitalization, as represented by stocks and bonds outstanding, cannot be accepted because many roads are notoriously over-capitalized and shamefully mismanaged. He might have cited the Rock Island, the Frisco, the Wabash, the Boston and Maine, Erie and the New York, New Haven and Hartford as examples of reckless financing and exploiting for speculative purposes.

"All men should have the right to the acquirement at least of the necessities on reasonable terms, and that no man shall be permitted to indulge his selfish inclination to get as much as he can for his commodity or his service in such a manner as to deprive his fellow of the opportunity to get the necessities of life on reasonable terms."

Mr. Herrin did not set up contrary views. He offered no solution of the valuation problem. He accepted government control as a necessity, and then proceeded to point out some of the obligations it entailed. The pith of his remarks was contained in quotations from court decisions and from members of the Interstate Commerce Commission. That he was not opposing government regulation nor combating anything Mr. Eshelman said is shown by this extract from his address:

"Undoubtedly, the removal of this one evil of secret rates and rebates fully justified government regulation, and I think no railroad manager would agree to dispense with government regulation at the cost of returning to the old conditions. No one familiar with the history of this subject can doubt that the provisions of the Interstate Commerce law, enforcing strict compliance with the tariffs filed, have been of great benefit to the railroads, and I think we should not doubt the sincerity of the leading railroad officials when they state that they accept government regulation and are, in good faith, aiding in the enforcement of the law."

Thus we see in the addresses of Mr. Eshelman and Mr. Herrin, one representing the spirit and purpose of regulation and the other the interests subject to regulation, a rapprochement rather than a divergence of opinion.

While agreeing with the necessity for regulation, Mr. Herrin directed attention to a phase of the question which has compelled the examination of thoughtful minds since rate regulation has become the fixed policy of the individual States as well as the national government. How are railroads to be financed in future, so that the lines may be extended and the service improved, while rates are being reduced and the cost of operation increased? If regulation be so drastic as to make railroad property unremunerative, private capital will build no more railroads and the service must degenerate—or the government must take possession, by purchase or confiscation, of the railroads, finance and operate them, and employ them as an official agency for handling the people's business. This quotation from Theodore Roosevelt illustrates the point he was endeavoring to make:

"The great need of the hour, from the standpoint of the general public—of the producer, consumer and shipper alike—is the need for better transportation facilities, for additional tracks, additional terminals, and improvements in the actual handling of the railroads, and all this with the least possible delay. Ample, safe and rapid transportation facilities are even more necessary than cheap transportation. The prime need is for the investment of money which will provide better terminal facilities, additional tracks, and a greater number of cars and locomotives, while at the same time securing, if possible, better wages and shorter hours for the employees. There must be just and reasonable regulation of rates, but any arbitrary and unthinking movement to cut them down may be equivalent to putting a complete stop to the effort to provide better transportation."

Perhaps Mr. Herrin's quotation from the Federal Supreme Court and Mr. Eshelman's quotation from an opinion rendered by Max Thelen, Mr. Eshelman's colleague on the Railroad Commission, will show how nearly the two were standing on common ground. Quoting from the Supreme Court, Mr. Herrin said:

"It must be remembered that railroads are the private property of their owners; that while, from the public character of the work in which they are engaged, the public has the power to prescribe rules for securing faithful and efficient service and equality between shippers and communities, yet in no proper sense is the public a general manager."

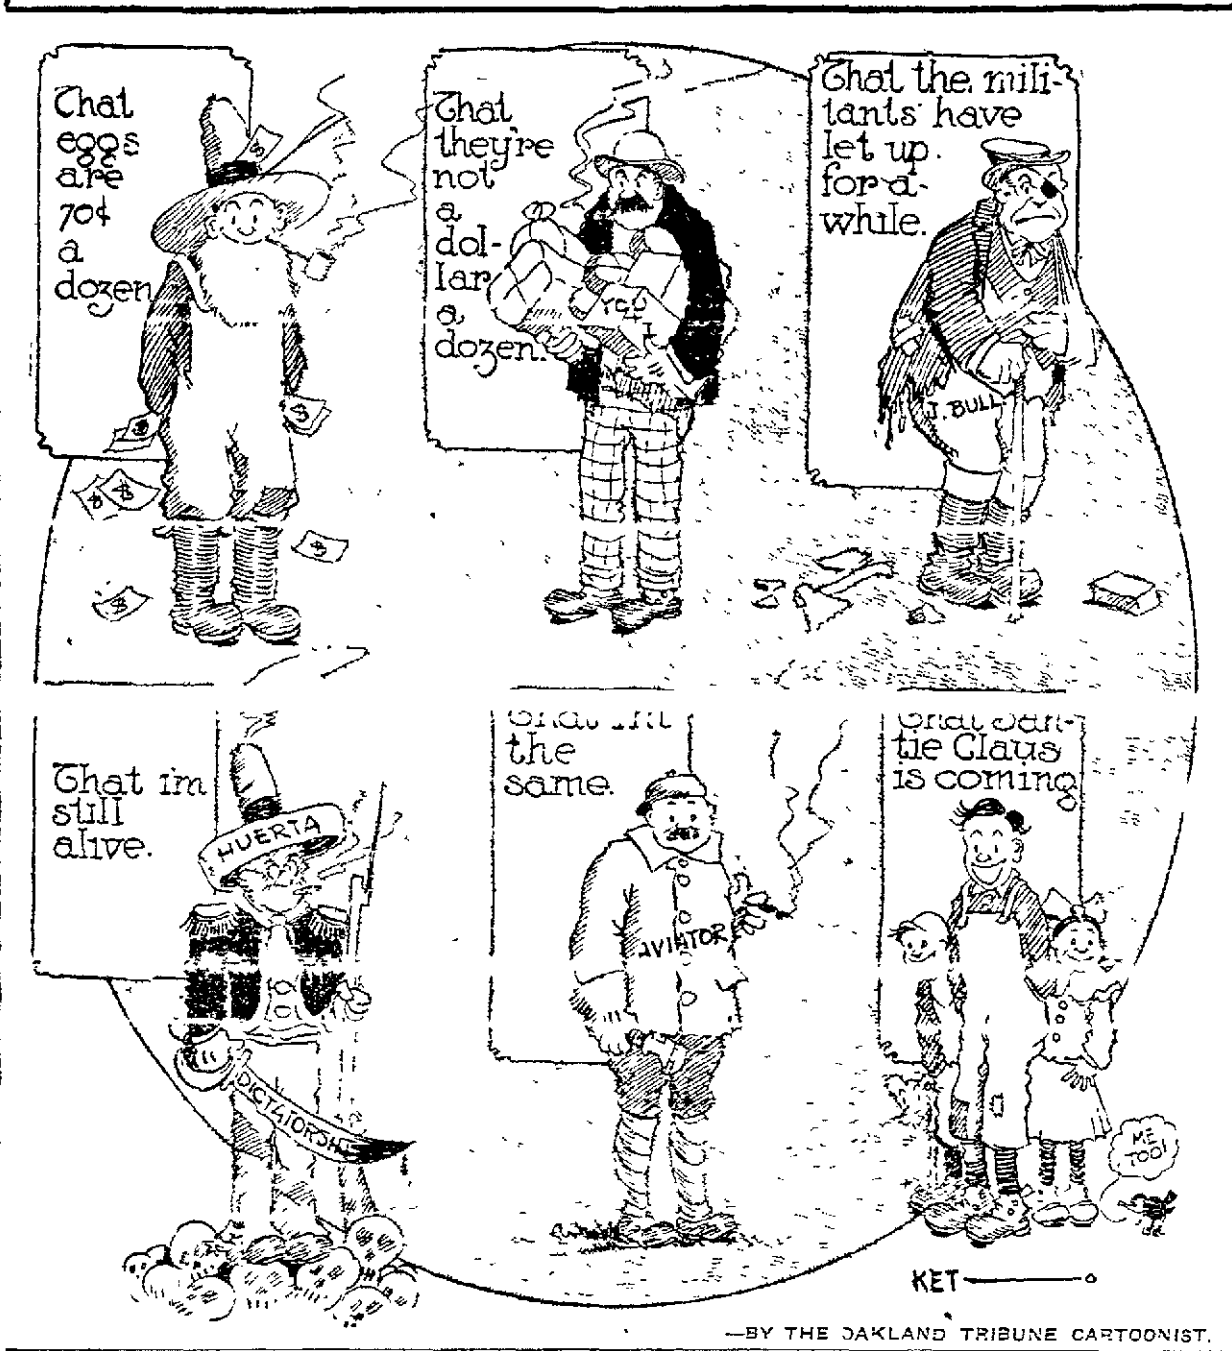

Mr. Eshelman quotes Mr. Thelen as follows:

"A reasonable return is one which under honest accounting and responsible management will attract the amount of investment money needed for the development of our railroad facilities. More than this is an unnecessary burden; less than this, a check to railroad construction and to the development of traffic."

There is no conflict here; on the contrary, there is substantial agreement as to fundamentals. Hence it serves no good purpose to represent that there is conflict. A philosophic and candid discussion of rate regulation from different viewpoints, in some cases opposed, illuminates a vital problem, and should not be turned into a partisan debate as to a question on which there is substantial difference of opinion.

THANKFUL—

A Few Thanksgiving Remarks.

The growth of THE TRIBUNE epitomizes the growth of Oakland and Alameda County. During the present year THE TRIBUNE has added many thousands to its circulation; it has increased the volume of its advertising enormously, enlarged its news service and taken a more important place as a public utility. Therefore the publishers will eat their Thanksgiving dinner with the satisfaction that comes from the consciousness of a duty well performed. They have striven to build up, not tear down, and have labored for a greater and better Oakland. The prosperity of the city is reflected in its columns, and its subscription list testifies to the popular appreciation of its course.

It is hoped to make THE TRIBUNE a better newspaper in the future than it has been in the past, and a more potent auxiliary of material and moral development. Its first aim will be to print the news fairly and fully that its reading constituency may be accurately informed of what is going on not only in their midst but in the world around them, and by editorial comment to advise with our readers as to what should be done for the best interests of the community and the nation. It will give all the aid and encouragement it can to constructive enterprise, likewise to all projects having social betterment for their object.

We trust the people of this city will second our efforts in future as they have in the past, and that the fruit of common endeavor will be a more prosperous and beautiful city and cleaner, purer and more elevating communal life.

Now to the turkey! Fall to and eat with zest and good humor, not forgetting to be thankful for the blessings we enjoy and the prosperity which has attended our labors.

The largest item in the sworn expense statement of his election expenses, filed by John Purroy Mitchell, mayor-elect of New York, is $270 for boxing lessons. This would indicate that he learned the art of self-defense that he might ward off the taps of ward strikers.

Deep Mud and Wooden Piles.

President Dwyer says the State Harbor Commission has not abandoned its policy of building concrete piers wherever practicable. He explains, however, that the mud at certain points on the San Francisco waterfront is so deep and soft that it is practically impossible to put down concrete piling. If that be so, the Harbor Commission is justified in using wooden piles.

It is a question for engineers to decide. Laymen are not qualified to pass upon a matter involving practicability and economy in wharf and dock construction.

President Dwyer admits that wooden piers are expensive to maintain and are exposed to danger from fire. Although wood should be discarded as a building material when its use can be avoided, it is quite possible that physical conditions may, in some instances, render the use of concrete impracticable or too costly. In many places on San Francisco bay the mud off shore is from eighty to one hundred feet in depth. At some points it is well nigh bottomless.

Still wooden piling, put down in the soft mud and resting on firm bottom, has sustained great weight for years. Is it not possible to do the same thing with concrete piles? It would be costly, to be sure, but if it is stable and safe, would it not be advisable to go to the greater expense rather than return to the use of wood? However, we have no doubt that the Harbor Commission is being guided by engineering skill and is sincerely desirous of making good use of the money at its disposal. It is absurd to suppose that the Harbor Commission is deliberately choosing an ephemeral form of construction when it can obtain a better and more permanent form. The Commissioners should be credited with some common sense. Their judgment may be at fault, but it is not supposable that they do not want to leave durable and creditable works behind them.

"A green Christmas makes a fat churchyard," is an old saying our ancestors brought from England. It is different in California. Christmas is the prelude to a good crop year.

OAKLAND NOW ON THE MAP

(From San Francisco Daily Commercial News, Nov. 23.)

On the first of last July all the customs districts in the United States were reorganized and consolidated, by reducing the number of districts from several hundred to forty-nine.

The four former districts of California were made into two districts, with San Francisco (including Oakland), as the headquarters of the District of San Francisco, and Los Angeles as the headquarters of the District of Southern California.

Bureka and Port Harford were also made ports of entry in the district of San Francisco, and San Pedro, San Diego, Calexico, Campo and Tia Juana were also designated as ports of entry in the District of Southern California. The former sub-port of Monterey, in this district, was abolished.

It was also provided that the Secretary of the Treasury might, in the interest of commerce or protection of the revenue, require, create customs stations at any places with practically all the privileges of ports of entry. But so far as is known at the local custom house no customs stations have been created in this district.

The new map of the United States, which has recently issued a map showing the boundaries of the various customs districts and has noted thereon the ports of entry, headquarters ports and customs stations. These markings are shown as follows. Large black dot for headquarters ports, a small circle for other ports of entry, and a small cross for customs stations.

The portion of this map representing California is unique and worthy of comment. San Diego is noted thereon plainly and apparently with the accent on the "a." Avalon is noted as a customs station about twenty miles east of Los Angeles, somewhere in the neighborhood of Mount Lowe, when in fact it is on Catalina Island, twenty miles south of San Pedro. Port Harford is plainly shown instead of Port Harford, which is the spot known in nautical and commercial circles as San Luis. Monterey is not on the map and Port Costa is shown as a customs station at the spot where Vallejo is situated. Crescent City and Trinidad are noted as customs stations, although not known to be such. But where San Francisco is located, no town, dot or anything else is shown except the name "San Francisco," which would indicate only a headland, such as Point Reyes; but Oakland is plainly printed on the map with a big black dot, indicating that it alone is the headquarters of the district.

San Francisco and the reorganization plan said that "San Francisco (including Oakland)" should be the headquarters port. It is suspected that the Oakland Chamber of Commerce must have gotten its work in with the mapmaker.

ABOUT EUGENICS

Mrs. J. H. Hays, chairman of the Eugenics Society, has published an article on eugenics. It shows study of the subject, and will induce in others study and research.

In illustration she presents Dugdale's history of the Jukes family and in contrast the family of Johnathan Edwards. Dugdale's account of the Edwards family does not begin soon enough.

A Mr. Edwards, in Connecticut, married, and soon discovered that his wife was in a condition to have a new married woman. He sought to divorce her on the ground of immorality prior to marriage, but the general court refused him relief and the couple lived together and children were the result of the union. One of these was the father of Johnathan Edwards. The woman's conduct continued to be absolute and her husband finally divorced her and married again. His children in this stock of blood were without quality in any respect.

Not so, however, with the progeny of the first wife. She was the progenitor of 13 college presidents, 65 college professors, 60 physicians, 100 renowned clergymen, 15 army and navy officers, 30 judges, 3 United States Senators, and her great-grandson, Aaron Burr, was Vice-President of the United States. She was the progenitor mother of a race of which a Prince of Israel might have been proud.

Now if Mrs. Hammond's theory of eugenics had been applied to that woman of roving and dissolute fancy, the Edwards family would never have been and would not have furnished an argument by comparison with Dugdale's Jukes family.

It is evident that the eugenists are overlooking necessary elements in the attempt on insufficient data to build a science or evolve a law of human life.

JNO. P. IRISH.

WHAT IS WEALTH

But after all, what is wealth? My noble and severe parent had it in goodly quantity, but it cannot be said that it made him happy. He was far from being a happy man. I suppose that when he was the husband of one wife he thought he would be happy with two, but when the second was called, it appeared his idea of happiness there for a while. I am sure that it did not last, for nothing to do with the argument for that third and lesser wife was my own good and mild mother, who scolded only when it was absolutely necessary, and who raised a son to my father who has been able by his own exertions to lift himself above all the other children, and at the same time put rice in their pockets and hands over their shoulders, to be a father to wealth and office.

And so it is with many people. I remember when I was a youth at Lou-Chow that riches and promotions seemed as very gifts of the celestial regions. But I have found that neither great wealth nor distinguished decorations, nor even great power, are a guarantee of an abiding unrest of mind or turmoil of soul. How great and honorable is the peace of the feather of the throne, yet how much easier rests the head on goose feathers!—From "Memoirs of Li Hung Chang."

COUNTY JAIL INMATES
POLISH OFF DRUMSTICKS

There was joy within the gray walls of the County Jail today, for the seasonlous 50 guests of Sheriff Harner and his deputies sat down to one of the most sumptuous meals ever served behind prison bars. It was a record-breaker in every particular.

In spite of heavy sentences that are hanging over the heads of several of the prisoners, there was none the less a cheerful air about the occasion. The picking of drumsticks or polishing of ribbons arrived.

Most spectacular guests who have ever been in the new jail. He has a reputation as a man who is not afraid to face the music. He was born in Ireland but at an early age adopted himself to the custom of eating turkey, mince pie, pumpkin pie and apple sauce. He admitted freely today while talking through the corridor of his exclusive apartments, that even on the Fourth of July he had enjoyed shooting on unbreakers. It was the inmate desire to shoot something that brought him in to his present predicament.

However, Bradley, with a sentence of life imprisonment hanging over his head, did not let his depression reach as far as his stomach. He ate a like a man of a fellow. His jailers have practically been forced to give him the consideration of their good will. And Bradley fared well today along with the most recent arrival within the jurisdiction of "Hotel Harner."

Only one helping to a guest was allowed, but Sheriff Harner said that each man and the individual prisoners were helped with a liberal portion of turkey, cranberry sauce, sweet and regular potatoes, celery, fruit, nuts, while in side dishes were vegetables and lastly mince and apple and pumpkin pie.

There was not a note of discord among the guests during the whole affair. Each was in a happy mood and with well-wishers of the men in the different corridors spent the remainder of the afternoon singing, telling stories and playing games to the extent that their limited space would permit.

The city commissioners did not even discuss the matter of giving the prisoners extra fare for the holiday season, and no outside charity had been called in to help them. The city officials in charge of the jail acted upon the theory that if there is a Thanksgiving in the city, there is a Thanksgiving in the jail.

Bringing cheer to those who are without food, and shelter and warmth who are outside jail bars and who deserve Thanksgiving cheer rather than to those who have violated the laws of society and who have made themselves a curse upon the public.

Sounded Note of Gratitude
Our Forebears Were Thankful

At union Thanksgiving services held today in the First Baptist church of this city, Rev. Thomas A. Boyer of the First Christian church delivered the following sermon:

One of the most dominant of all the characteristics of the ancient Hebrews—who were, so to speak, the blazers of the trail in all matters of religious apprehension and appreciation—was that of gratitude. In no other portion of the world's literature is the consciousness of God and the fine expression of thanksgiving so abundantly set forth as in the religious history of this ancient people.

Our forefathers—the founders of the American republic—were in a very large and effective measure the true children of the prophets. They possessed without any hesicompelling sense of the divine presence and the divine beneficence, hence, the note of gratitude which was manifest in the establishing of the annual thanksgiving day was not a mere spasm of responsiveness that they were able to attain to by some process of abnormal heart-wrenching and from which they invariably proceeded to lapse into the dreary monotony and heart-heaviness of the unsuccessful candidate.

It was rather a fixed habit of life with them—one of the clearest and most unimpassioned judgments of wisdom of being.

From the days of the Puritans to our own is a far cry. It is no part of my purpose to urge a return in any wholesale way to the forms of Puritan thinking and living. In many particulars life is almost immeasurably richer and better than it was in the days of the Puritans.

God was often harsh and ungracious. Their theology was half pagan, their attitude toward their fellows angular and unsocial. And yet, what we do well to yield ourselves to the admonition of their lives is the practice of the divine presence, which to them was the major premise of the social order.

Contrary to an idea that is more or less prevalent today, religion, with its inevitable accessory of prayers and appointments, is no superfluous luxury, but a thing that is all very well in a way for those who have a penchant for that sort of program of life, but after all an unnecessary addenda—one that carries with it consequences of almost immeasurable drain on the masses. It is rather, one of the most essential of all the principles that make for the symmetrical building and balancing of humanity.

With religion taken out of the world, it would be a good place from which to emigrate. Herein is the splendid advantage of the schemes for social betterment that won't work. They are lacking in the underlying medium of reality, and like Barabas Green's flying machine, they become reminiscences. The evil spirit that infests society today can be exorcised only by the habits of faith. The great thing that the land can be subdued only by the invading hosts of God. The storms that scourge us with a mighty unrest of mind and soul can be trod only by the word of him who trod the wave-cliffs of storm.

In enumerating the grounds of the gratitude that the day evokes, there is, first of all, the fact that the commonplace, everyday necessities of life—the wants of body and of mind—have been supplied. To most of us at least there comes a sense of gratitude for health and beautiful homes, for comradeship with neighbors and for friends whose faces and voices fill the soul with strength and cheer, for some humble place at least among the hosts who have lent themselves to the task of building a better world.

In order, however, that there may be a sense of gratitude, there must be a sense of the divine presence, which to them was the major premise of the social order.

Harrowing Tales of Two Day's Battle Told

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 27.—Business houses in Juarez closed doors today upon the issuance of an order by General Villa that shopkeepers must accept constitutional fiat money. When he learned that the merchants had closed their stores rather than accept the rebel currency, Villa announced that he would confiscate their stocks.

EL PASO, Nov. 27.—(Mexican.)—Harrassed with wounded, lacking provisions and practically without ammunition, those that are left of 4000 government soldiers who, for two days fought to regain Juarez for Huerta, continued their struggle today to reach Chihuahua City where they hope to find relief in the federal garrison.

And in Juarez today, General Villa continued preparations begun last night to move against Chihuahua City which even now may be in possession of Constitutionalists under General Manuel Salazar. It was known to have been in the vicinity of the capital when the fighting south of Juarez began. That another day, at least, the wily commander of the rebels will permit his men to rest, while he gathers in provisions for his rush down the valley. In an attack upon Chihuahua, which if successful will give the Constitutionalists complete possession of the state and will drive the federalists from their last stronghold in the northern Mexican States.

TELL HARRROWING TALE.
Soldiers today in Juarez tell harrowing stories of the two day's battle against the federalists and in the telling there is lost no opportunity to extol the bravery of both rebel and federal commanders.

It was last Saturday night, they say, that their first knowledge of the purpose of the federal attack was received, and General Villa rushed his main body of troops south, spread them in a great half moon to ward off any approach to Juarez. There they stood until Monday afternoon, with only an occasional brush between skirmish parties to relieve the strain of the expectant wait.

Then came the federalists who from a distance of about five miles advanced, unloaded their field artillery and began an attack. Desultory firing, they say, continued until after dark until the moment when Villa commenced his strategy of leaving his camp stealthily to creep upon the federal main column and to be reinforced below Tierra Blanca by troops from his left and right wings.

Suddenly, out of the darkness came the challenge, sounds of shots, cries of surprise, and the fiercest engagement of the revolution was on, in almost hand-to-hand conflict. General Villa, directly with his troops, was unable, it is said, to direct their activities until the first shock of the surprise of contact was over.

The main body of rebels, traversing a direct line to the south, had arrived at the designated point of meeting just a few minutes before the flank reinforcements appeared.

LYMAN SPENDS THANKSGIVING IN PRISON

Accused Promoter Ruefully Remembers Days.

Made Half Million in 30 Days; Now Is Behind the Bars.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Having spent one day on the witness stand, and another in the jail, the promoter on trial for alleged mail fraud, passed Thanksgiving in jail today, a solemn and preparing for a series of examinations and cross examination which will continue in the United States District Court for at least another week. His testimony so far has not reached the affairs of the Panama Development Company, the concern which "blew up" more than two years ago, and caused his arrest. Since then his career has been marked with an escape, re-arrest and a term in the United States prison at McNeil's Island, and a long period in the county jail here, which he has devoted mostly to literary efforts.

Like other charges of the sheriff, Lyman had turkey for dinner today, and a few other extras which are allowed to the "star boarder" squad of fortunate prisoners confined in the jail. But he ruefully compared the routine to his existence prior to coming to Los Angeles. When according to the testimony he has already given, his personal expenditures amounted to $150,000 a year.

Lyman told the jury which is trying him that he made and lost money. In Wall Street he said he lost $200,000 after night and shortly afterwards he recouped by making half a million in less than thirty days.

As a promoter he said he had hoisted one thousand concerns in different parts of the world and each one had a capital of at least $1,000,000. He has been in racing games, and in mining and foreign concessions. He was in the thick of the English rubber plantation craze in Malaya.

He declared he promoted the "Bull Frog" rush and when that "proved to be a bloomer" he paid back to investors nearly $150,000.

Lyman will be the only witness in his own defense.

Davis Tablet Placed On Federal Building

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 27.—A bronze tablet to Jefferson Davis, whose name was chiseled off Cabin John Bridge in Washington by federal authority, but later restored, has been placed in the wall of the Federal building here, with the consent of the National Government, to mark the location of Davis' offices as president of the Confederate States of America.

troopers from left and right wing, obeyed the "adelante redebido" cry of their leaders and hastened into the fight. The cavalry was ordered to make flank charges upon the enemy, both left and right, and the infantry ran to the aid of the main column, threw their weight in the scale of battle, and turned what might have been a victory into a bitter rout.

Outnumbered and overpowered, the beleaguered government troops withdrew in disorder, say the rebels, to their trains which were hastily backed down the track. But closely pursued by cavalry from Villa's forces, one group of federalists were unable to extricate before the enemy had reached them, surrounded the train and made the federalists prisoners.

LOSES MONDAY FIGHT.

In such a manner was the story of the most crucial moment of the two days' fighting told, and the tale of the gallant defense made by the federal General Caraveo at Samalayuca the following day was second only in interest. The heaviest loss of the entire battle, it was said, to have occurred Monday night in the battle at close range, while the casualties of other encounters and engagements were exceedingly light, with the possible exception of the fight made by the Mexican army to penetrate the rebel line to the east of Juarez Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Salazar stood his ground and led the fight until wounded seriously, and his struggle was against desperate odds, with his completely surrounded army by the rebels who had orders to capture as many of them alive as possible.

LANCERS TO FIGHT REBELS.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—A corps of lancers for service against the rebels in the north was authorized by the Mexican government, which today commended two young officers to form a body of these troops. The officers recently returned from France and the lancers for the troops are said to have arrived already from Germany.

WOUNDED PRISONER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Later today the navy department received delayed dispatches reporting Rear Admiral Fletcher's arrival at Tampico, and also the arrival of the British cruiser Suffolk, with Rear Admiral Craddock. Nothing new was reported in the situation. The Tuxpan oil fields are now protected.

MAUD ALLAN STRAINS TENDON.

ROME, Nov. 27.—Maud Allan, the American dancer, is suffering from a strained tendon in her right arm and was warmly applauded. The doctors ordered her to abstain from dancing for two days.

High State Officials Involved in Graft Wilson Has Talk With W. F. McCombs

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 27.—John A. Hennessey, who was former Governor of New York, is the subject of a graft investigation. His name is mentioned in a statement that two men will make a confession in the John Doe proceedings in New York next Monday which will involve a "high state official" and possibly others.

The nature of the alleged crime will be the most startling that has been exposed in the entire graft investigation. Hennessey maintains and it will involve the passing of money.

"It is in the line of campaign contributions," he was asked.

"Far more important than that," he replied.

Hennessey was here yesterday to obtain copies of two highway contracts which District Attorney Whitman desires to use in his investigation.

TO AID OAKLAND CENTER IN WATER CONFERENCE

A committee to aid the women of Oakland center, California Civic League, has been appointed by the Merchants' Exchange to assist in the work before them. This committee will aid in the water conference to be held under the auspices of the league in the Hotel Oakland on December 1, 2 and 3.

W. E. Gibson, a member of the directorate of the Exchange, is one of the staunch supporters of the proposed conference. Harry G. Williams is also aiding the plan, which is for a three day debate in which all water supply plans applying to the bay region will be discussed.

The committee at work on the matter consists of Wilbur Walker, W. E. Gibson, A. Jones, Theodore Gier and L. H. Davidson.

Measles Epidemic Ravaging Kodiak

SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—A special cable to the Post-Intelligencer from Valdez, Alaska, says that Deputy United States Marshal Carl Armstrong at Kodiak telegraphed to Marshall Breunerman at Valdez that 16 more deaths from measles have occurred at that island. Mr. Armstrong added that every family but his own and one other at Kodiak reports one or more cases of measles. More than 150 deaths have occurred to date in the infected district, which includes Kodiak and Adognak islands. The revenue cutter Tahama, which was dispatched from Seattle with medical supplies and physicians November 13, has not arrived yet and medical assistance is badly needed. Most of the afflicted are natives.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Patrick McDonough, a retired police officer, and father of Peter and Thomas McDonough, of the firm of McDonough Brothers, San Francisco, in connection with the bail bond investigation, died this morning at his home 2908 Bush street. McDonough was one of the first officers retired under the McCoppin Pension act and for many years served as a prison keeper at the Alcatraz penitentiary.

He was born in 1858 and was active during the strenuous times in this city after the Civil War. He was retired in 1888. He was 77 years old.

Automobile Traffic Comprehensive Checked Up Proves Commissioners' Deductions

Commissioner of Streets William J. Barcus, in a comprehensive report filed with the City Council, proves conclusively that the motor vehicle is rapidly supplanting the horse in Oakland as well as elsewhere. Barcus says by his statistics:

For vehicles of various kinds, as against 45.4 per cent of horse-drawn vehicles.

The statistics were gathered by the beginning of a systematic study of Oakland traffic conditions as an aid to the solution of payment and street opening problems. The work was done when men could best be spared from more urgent work.

Chief of Police Walter J. Peterson will use the statistics gathered by Barcus in his report to the council.

The new law is to be a comprehensive one, and Peterson has already begun the work of enforcing it. The council is to be immediately upon its completion.

Barcus' report to the council follows:

AUTOS INCREASE.
The most interesting result of the investigation is the discovery that the motor vehicle has increased its share of the traffic by a substantial margin, a total of 50.2 per cent having been counted as against 45.4 per cent of horse-drawn vehicles. That is, 50.2 per cent of all traffic passing 25 selected stations consisted of motor vehicles of all kinds, and 45.4 per cent of horse-drawn vehicles.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES IN CHURCHES OF ALAMEDA

Rev. F. K. Baker Speaks at Union Services Held by Eight Congregations

ALAMEDA, Nov. 21. — Thanksgiving services held in local churches attracted thousands of residents this morning. Business was suspended, city office closed and even the postoffice employees took a holiday.

Union services were held by eight of the employment. Thanksgiving becomes our life work. It is easy for some to be thankful for great favors, agreeable and pleasant experiences, for temporal blessings. I wonder if when we are thankful for some things, we can really be thankful for anything. All that is good and true comes from a heart pang.

at the First Christian Church. Rev. Everett W. Cougher conducted the services at Christ Episcopal Church. Speaking of "The Responsibility of the Thinker," the choir, which was augmented by Miss Edith Weston, Mrs. William Randall and Addison N. Clark as soloists, rendered special music.

At the Home of Truth the services were conducted by Miss Harriet Kix and the following program was rendered:

Discourse by Annie Kix Kutz.
Song, "The Lord Is My Shepherd."
Prayer by Miss Harriet Kix.
Benediction by Miss Harriet Kix.

"Invocation to Silence," Miss Rix.
Vocal solo—"A Song of Thanksgiving."
Chorus—"Victory—Victory over death, selected.
Robert MacIntosh and Joseph Walker.
Chorus—"The Conquest of Poverty."
Miss Mullis.
A hymn—"Praise to Thee," performed by Miss Gertrude Boyd at organ.
Prayer—"Prayer," by the Christian

Dr. Baker said in part: "I am a normal human being to their benefactors, and how much more so should I be to God, from whom all blessings flow. There could be no more perfect example of a man than Jesus Christ, who lived and died for our annual Thanksgiving festival than He who lives today in the death of the efficiency of goodness. Worldliness whimpers its sneers at self-sacrifice. Science and the law of the land catches the surface water of the surrounding country, but which has no outlet. A life that centers in itself is a life that is dead and unproductive. It is divine and Christlike to share life and its blessings with others. To be a co-worker with God in bringing men into his kingdom is the sublimest of all." — Dr. Baker that suggested to St. Paul the "concerning the Jews" of the Epistle to the Romans. The Jewish tradition among the Jews to the effect that when God had created the world, He said to Himself, "I will make a thousand of the work of His hands. One repents that it was so vast and a perfect world was created. I will make a thousand of these and they shall be created a perfect humanity and a perfect world, which shall be the work of all the years of the world, and all the years of the world, thus the world, with its great soul, thus

ALL SHOULD BE THANKFUL.

"And now we read 'O of the mouth of the dead and sleeping, and of the mute praise.' All are recipients of God's mercy "And now, my dear friends, let us turn to the subject of prayer. Prayer is the language of the soul. It is the way in which we communicate with God. It is the way in which we express our love, our gratitude, our needs, and our desires to Him. Prayer is the way in which we seek His guidance, His strength, and His help. Prayer is the way in which we draw near to Him, and we experience His presence. Prayer is the way in which we grow closer to Him, and we become more like Him. Prayer is the way in which we live out our faith, and we witness to the world. Prayer is the way in which we find peace, joy, and hope. Prayer is the way in which we live our lives for Him, and we glorify Him in all that we do. Prayer is the way in which we love Him, and we love our neighbors as ourselves. Prayer is the way in which we live out our faith, and we witness to the world. Prayer is the way in which we find peace, joy, and hope. Prayer is the way in which we live our lives for Him, and we glorify Him in all that we do. Prayer is the way in which we love Him, and we love our neighbors as ourselves.

THOUGHT IS, CONSTANT.

"While we have our printed and convenient Thanksgiving seasons Paul gives us a new and different Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving spirit is to become a disposition—giving thanks always. It was the spirit of Paul that made the substance of praise should not be interrupted, and that a cheer should be given to every member. He has been a blessing to all who have heard him. I could wish it were made known more sentiment with most of us. Gratitude has named Thursday as the twenty-seventh day of November, 1913, as a day for our thanksgiving to God for our past and growing nation. Peace and prosperity has been reigning in our country. Our citizens have materially helped the continuous development. Especially have we been blessed with a new president, who has the good things of life and with the happiness that necessarily follows the attainment of our country's independence. Our country is contented. Our municipality has Another beautiful thing about this song is that it is a hymn to be thankful for "all things." Not a transient fit of song, but a hymn suggested for a season but then incessant.

PRICESCost of Thanksgiving Table
Supplies Advance Surprisingly in Decade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving dinner will be the most expensive since the outbreak of the war, it has been estimated. It will cost from $5 to 10 per cent more than it did 10 years ago, and from 15 to 20 per cent more than any other Thanksgiving day in the last six years, according to recently gathered government statistics. Thousands of turkeys spell which overtook the east and middle west a week ago, the drought of last summer which shortened crop yields, particularly white potatoes; an alleged cold storage combination which Attorney General McReynolds is now investigating to find if millions of dozens of eggs and millions of pounds of butter produce have been withheld from the market by middlemen to force high prices, and the steady advance of prices generally in the last decade are among the contributing causes to which economists

HEN IS RELUCTANT.
The great American hen, however, is so reluctant to place the blame upon cold storage men, heat and drought of the last summer, they have caused the hens to stop laying sooner than usual.

As to turkey, the rise in prices seems to have extended all along the route to the consumer, beginning at the barnyard, where the farmer received an average of 15 cents a pound for his bird—about a half-cent more than he received last year. But turkey is not a Thanksgiving bird at all, according to the experts.
"The Lord never intended turkey to be the Thanksgiving food of the country generally," says Dr. Mary E. Pennington, the expert in food research in the federal bureau of chemistry. "Christmas is the time for turkey. Green goose is the Thanksgiving bird and is generally used in Europe, where St. Martin's day is celebrated about this time of the year."

DON'T PREVAIL HERE.
In colonial days in New England, turkey was a delicacy. It was different and more favorable to turkeys, but such conditions do not prevail over the United States as a whole.

The family which turns from turkey to chicken, pork or beef, will find prices uniformly advanced. Hens show an average increase of 5 cents a pound, pork 2 to 5 cents, rib roast, 2 to 10 cents; sweet potatoes are about the same prices as last year, but the white potato crop is about 100,000,000 bushels below last year's and dangerous plant diseases abroad which have checked importations have forced an increase in price. Apples, oranges and grapes are scarce because of short crops in the east. Cranberries, with a normal crop, are a little higher. Flour and sugar are uniformly cheaper, and butter shows no comparative advance except in California.

Eggs, however, from incomplete returns dated November 15 from the principal cities, show increases ranging from 2 to 24 cents a dozen over last year's prices.

STATISTICS COMPLETED.
Agents of the bureau of labor which has been making a special study of prices, have completed statistics showing prices of certain commodities on November 15 in cities which from a geographical standpoint should fairly represent conditions throughout the country.

enjoyed his Thanksgiving turkey today instead of occupying a slab at the morgue. Last night when Wilson was buried at the kitchen of the house. Edward Orloff, an aged man whom Wilson had taken into his home to assist a few weeks ago, entered the house and grabbing a large butcher knife advanced toward his benefactor and threatened to cut his throat in a dozen places." Mrs. Wilson from an adjoining room called her husband and endeavoring to quiet the excited Orloff. She ran to a phone in another part of the house and summoned Officer Jennings, who stole up behind Orloff and knocked the man down with one hand, while he disarmed him with the other.

Orloff is now in the city jail under observation as to his sanity. He applied to Wilson several weeks ago for aid and was taken in. A few days ago Wilson found employment for the man on a ranch near this city and Orloff was to have gone to his new employment tomorrow. The aged man claimed that the pastor was going to get rid of him, and said he had James P. Arnold is looking up Orloff's record in San Jose.
